

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer system capable of system management from a terminal having a wireless communication function is provided with an IrDA-IF having an IrDA port capable of infrared wireless communication between the terminal and the computer system itself and a system management controller connected to the IrDA-IF, the system management controller performing the system management instructed by the terminal through infrared wireless communication with the terminal through the IrDA-IF.

5

10

00000000000000000000000000000000